

When it comes to wine, there's nothing Mattia doesn't want to share, to talk and to laugh about over a good glass or two.

PHOTO COURTESY OF BANDIRIA

PHOTO: JOSE LUIS PEREZ / ANSA / G. AUGUSTINO

Hemingway and his typewriter called the Bar – and room 107 at the Post – home from home. Many a merry evening here has been avuncularly administered by legendary Bar Manager Antonio Di Franco, master in situ for more than 50 seasons.

Legions of beautiful people come to Cortina not only to ski, to see and be seen – but to partake in Italy's rich wine culture. The latest must-sip is a bar called Alexander Gusto Antico, home to Italy's best sommelier of 2019, Mattia Antonio Cianca. The bubbly 33-year-old Roman is recently returned from Australia - where he was also crowned Australia's Best Sommelier for 2017 - and he's the heart and soul of Cortina's newest, most relaxed wine bar. When it comes to wine, there's nothing Mattia doesn't want to share, to talk and to laugh about over a good glass or two.

Dedicated to local food and wine excellence (of which there's a mountain-full in these parts), Alexander's offers more

PHOTO COURTESY OF CORTINA TOURISM

Take the Best Night Out... Home

Make your chalet kitchen the best dining event in town when you reserve a personal chef

Whether it's a life celebration, romantic dinner, or just a reason to gather family and friends, our personal chefs and mixologists deliver a fun, interactive and unforgettable culinary experience to your home kitchen.

info@mixn-match.com

www.mixn-match.com